INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY

By SIDNEY AND BEATRICE WEBB, authors of "The History of Trade Unionism." With 2 diagrams. 2 vols., 8vo, 958 pages, $8.00.

* * * This work is an exhaustive analysis of Trade Unionism and its relation to other Democratic movements, to which "The History of Trade Unionism," published in 1894, may be regarded as an introduction.

"There is no question as to the excellence of the new work in which an attempt is made to describe the inner life of trade unions, to trace their development, and to predict their future. 'Industrial Democracy' and 'The History of Trade Unionism' are examples of an order of literature in which Sociology is poor: facts collected with as much care as a naturalist would show in exploring the flora and fauna of a new region; statements of importance made at first hand; chapter and verse as a rule given for the authors' assertions; and from time to time admissions making against their conclusions. . . . The authors have much to tell about trade unionism that is new. . . . Their 'combined plan of studying documents and men' has produced, an account, with fulness of details, never before given of the actual working of trade unions."—Literature.

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF CARDINAL WISEMAN

By WILFRID WARD, author of "William George Ward and the Oxford Movement," "William George Ward and the Catholic Revival," etc., etc. With 3 portraits. 2 vols., Vol. I. pp. xii-579, Vol. II. pp. ii-656, $6.00.

"A fascinating and delightful book. We can recommend it to our readers as much more than a biography of a single man. It is the story of the great transition time in the annals of the Church in England—the transition from the era of the penal laws to that of the equality and freedom of the present day. In our judgment Mr. Ward has done his work excellently well."—Tablet.

SERVIA: THE POOR MAN'S PARADISE

By HERBERT VIVIAN, M.A., Officer of the Royal Order of Takovo. With portrait of the King and a map. 8vo, pp. lvi-300, $4.00.

"Mr. Vivian has studied his subject with an eye for the picturesque, as well as a thirst for information. He writes freshly, not to say jauntily, and would instruct by entertainment."—Academy.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BONNELL, SILVER & Co. will publish shortly "The Soul of Honor," by Hesba Stretton; also "Sandy Scott's Bible Class."

THE DE WITT PUBLISHING HOUSE, New York, has in press a collection of the cartoons by Homer C. Davenport, with an introduction by Hon. John J. Ingalls.

LAMSON, WOLFFE & Co., Boston, will publish shortly "Marching with Gomez," by Grover Flint, with an introduction by the author's father-in-law, John Fiske.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish shortly the authorized American edition of "Le Soutien de Famille," the last story, completed shortly before his death, of Alphonse Daudet. The book will be issued simultaneously in Paris, London, and New York. The American version will probably be issued under the title of "The Wage-Earner."

L. C. PAGE & Co., Boston, have made arrangements with Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr to publish her new book, entitled "In Kings' Houses," a romance of the days of Queen Anne. They will probably publish the American copyright edition of Edward Heron-Allen's literal prose translation of the Rubaiyat contained in the Bodleian MS., 140—the one that Fitzgerald used. Mr. Heron-Allen's volume contains a valuable introduction and apparatus of notes, and a photogravure reproduction of the Persian MS., together with a transcript into modern Persian script.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 18th inst. a work entitled "First Report of a Book-Collector, comprising a brief answer to the frequent question, 'Why first editions?' with some remarks on the common supposition that mere scarcity is a reason for collecting them, and five egotistical chapters of anecdote and advice addressed to the beginner in book-collecting, followed by an account of book-worms," by William Harris Arnold. The book has been printed at the Marion Press, Jamaica, L. I. It is issued in a limited edition of 85 copies, of which 60 are for sale.

THE CHICAGO MEDICAL BOOK Co. has issued a fourth edition of the "'Universal' Poison Register," containing also the poison acts of the various States; list of poisons in groups with antidote treatment; table of maximum doses, etc., etc. This edition has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date with present laws. The register is a blank book ruled to show name of purchaser, address, age, sex, color, kind of poison, quantity, purpose for which required, to whom delivered, name of witness. Every drug-store should keep this register fully written up and available at all times, to prove that poisons have only been sold according to law and on proper authorization.

THE edition of Bernard Shaw's plays (he has dropped the George which made him G. B. S.) which Herbert S. Stone & Co. are getting out, will not include "The Devil's Disciple," Richard Mansfield's new success. This will be included in the third volume, to be brought out at some later time. "Arms and the Man," the only Shaw play which before "The Devil's Disciple" was ever given in America, and which was so popular as performed by Mansfield, is in the second volume, the one entitled "Pleasant Plays." The full title is "Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant." The volume will contain a portrait of Mr. Shaw as a frontispiece. This will be something of a novelty, as he has always shown a violent dislike to having a picture of himself appear in print.

THE spring announcements of E. & J. B. Young & Co. include "Livre de Prières," the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal Church in French, translated by the Rev. E. A. Wittmeyer; "Abraham and his age," by Henry George Tomkins, with colored frontispiece and ten pages of plates; "Hezekiah and his age," by Robert Sinker, D.D.; "Te Deum Laudamus—Christian Life in Song—the Song and the Singers," by the late Mrs. Rundle Charles; a fifth edition, revised and enlarged, of an "Historical Church Atlas," consisting of eighteen colored maps and fifty sketch maps in the text, illustrating the history of Eastern and Western Christendom until the Reformation, and that of the Anglican Communion until the present day, by Edmund McClure; and "The Liturgy and Ritual of the Ante-Nicene Church," a volume of the Side Lights of Church History, by F. E. Warren.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

A revolting study of physical love and infanticide. An unfaithful husband forgives his wife's unfaithfulness, but concentrates his hatred upon her child, of which her lover is the father, and finally exposes it to the cold in such a way that it dies. The husband narrates the story. Entitled in the original Italian L'Innocente.

Ball, Eustace A. Reynolds. Cairo of to-day: a practical guide to Cairo and its environs. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 8+256 p. maps, plans, 16°. (Black's foreign guide-books.) limp cl., $1. [357]

Banks, L: Albert, D.D. Immortal hymns and their story: the narrative of the conception and striking experiences of blessing attending the use of some of the world's greatest hymns. Cleveland, O., The Burrows Bros. Co., 1898. c. 8-313 p. il. pors. O. cl., $3. [358]

Twenty-five hymns, known throughout the Christian world, such as "Lead, kindly light," "Abide with me," "Rock of ages," and "From Greenland's icy mountains," etc., have the music and words given, and either the story of their inspiration or some wonderful religious experience connected with them. They are all illustrated with portraits of the authors, and full-page illustrations by Norval Jordan.

Belmont, Perry. Republican responsibility for present currency perils. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. 4+90 p. D. cl., 50 c. [359]

Articles published during 1897 in the Brooklyn Citizen: The unconstitutional greenback; The constitutional state banks; Democratic money; Republican money; Payment, redemption, resumption, and extinction; Greenbacks or bank notes; Suppression of state banks by Congress; The banks of the Whigs and the National Bank of the Republicans; Democratic responsibility for the City of New York.

Bennett, W. H., and Adeney, Walter F: The Bible story retold for young people: The Old Testament story, by W. H. Bennett; The New Testament story, by W. F. Adeney. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 14+404 p. map, il. D. cl., $1. [360]

The book is reduced to reasonable dimensions by the omission of those portions of the narrative which are less suitable for young people, and also of incidents not essential to the story.

Bible. New Testament. The New Testament of Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; tr. from the Latin Vulgate: diligently compared with the original Greek, and first

Brooke, Emma. The confession of Stephen Whapshare. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. 2+297 p. D. (Hudson lib., no. 28.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [364]

Stephen Whapshare, the son of a Devon fisherman, received sufficient education to fit him to be the secretary of Mr. Ashley, the leading man of his neighborhood. Under Mr. Ashley's roof he meets his future wife, a saint-like, ethereal young woman, who consents to elope with him. After a year of married life Mrs. Whapshare becomes a helpless and hopeless invalid. For ten years Stephen nurses her, rebelling against his lot. Another woman enters into his life, and he goes through a period of desperate temptation, to which he yields, by giving his wife an overdose of chloral. By the author of "The superfluous woman."

Burns, Rob. Selections from the poems of Robert Burns; ed. by W. H. Venable. N. Y., American Book Co., 1898. c. 3-96 p. por. D. (Eclectic classics.) bds., 20 c. [365]

Crooks, G. R.; D. D. The story of the Christian church. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, 1897. c. 13+604 p. map, O. cl., $3.50. [373]

The lectures on church history, in a revised and enlarged form, that the late Rev. G. R. Crooks gave to his classes at Drew Theological Seminary. The manuscript was in an advanced stage of preparation, and the book was partly in type, when death put an end to the labors of the distinguished author. He intended the volume primarily as a text-book, but it was also his desire so to narrate the history of the church that the ordinary reader might follow without difficulty, and with a newly awakened interest, the wonderful story of its growth and development. Brief bibliographies follow some of the chapters.

Crowninshield, Mrs. Schuyler. Where the trade wind blows: West Indian tales. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 4+308 p. D. cl., $1.50. [374]

Davidson, J. The bargain theory of wages: a critical development from the historic theories; with an examination of certain wages factors: the mobility of labor, trade unionism, and the methods of industrial remuneration. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. 6+319 p. D. cl., $1.50. [376]

"The present essay is the outcome of the attempts of the writer, during five years, to analyze the wages question historically as well as theoretically. He began with the theory presented by the late President Walker in his 'Wages question,' but was soon forced to give as a supplement an exposition of the history of wages theory, and gradually came to find that the theories were not mutually antagonistic, but, in a sense, complementary. A study of the Austrian theory of value showed him how it was possible to reconcile these divergent theories, and 'The bargain theory of wages' is the result."—Preface. Author is professor of political economy in the University of New Brunswick.

"The single purpose of this book is fairly to set before the reader Horace Mann as an educator in his historical position and relations. Everything is made to bend to this central idea. The aim is to tell the story clearly and simply, and in a manner to utilize some part, at least, of the great motive-power with which Mr. Mann's life is charged. The materials for the story have been drawn mainly from the 'Life and works of Horace Mann,' 5 v."—Preface. - Keister, D. A. Keister's corporation accounting and auditing: a practical treatise on higher accounting; designed for the use of accountants, auditors, bookkeepers, financial experts, business men, investors, stockholders, corporation officers, and lawyers; with an introd. by H: C. White. 5th ed. Cleveland, O., The Burrows Bros. Co., 1897. c. '96. 16+525 p. O. leath., $4. [399]
The author began the study and practice of the science of accounts in 1875, and has had practical experience in every subject mentioned in his book. The whole range of accounting is admirably discussed in his work, and most helpful and practical information is given. The accounting methods of steam and electric railroads, banks, partnerships, and all sorts of industrial and joint-stock companies are treated very thoroughly.

Written with a definite intention constantly in view. In size, selection, and arrangement of material, style, and mechanical structure, Prof. Ladd's effort has been to adapt the work to certain beginners, with an average grade of culture and amount of time at disposal. He has constantly had in mind also the mutual relations of the pupil and the teacher. The aid of experimental and physiological investigation is constantly sought. Further reading is suggested through lists of books and reference to periodical writings at the end of chapters.

Liliuokalani, Queen of Hawaii. Hawaii's story, by Hawaii's Queen. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1898. c. 8+409 p. por. il. D. cl., $2. [405]

The life of the former Queen of Hawaii, written by herself. She begins with her earliest recollections as the daughter of a native chief and as a royal child; describes her school days; her marriage to John Owen Dominis; her visit to England in the Jubilee year; her years as reigning queen, the revolution that dethroned her, her imprisonment, her release and visit to the United States, her treatment and reception by President Cleveland, etc. She answers the many accusations her enemies have made against her, warmly protesting her innocence, and claims that her people still love her. Some official documents support her story. The Hawaiian life and character are vividly described.

Ober, F. Albion. Crusoe's Island: a bird-hunter's story. N. Y., Appleton, 1898. c. 20+277 p. D. (Appleton's home reading books, division 1, natural history.) cl., 65 c. [413]

The island described by Defoe as the habitation of Robinson Crusoe for so many lonely years, Mr. Ober shows, by uncontestable proof, was not Juan Fernandez in the Pacific Ocean as generally accepted, but Tobago in the Caribbean Sea, not far distant from the north coast of South America. This book tells how the author found this island, and of his own life there for a time, with his many Robinson Crusoe-like experiences. The birds and trees and flowers of the island are carefully described.

Sidis, Boris. The psychology of suggestion: a research into the subconscious nature of man and society; with an introd. by W. James. N. Y., Appleton, 1898. c. 10+386 p. il. D. cl., $1.75. [419]

The work is divided into three parts: Suggestibility; The self; Man as one of a crowd. Under all these heads the author is original. In pt. 1 he tries by ingenious experiments to show that the suggestibility of waking persons follows an opposite law to that of hypnotic subjects. In pt. 2 a very full account is given of "double personality," "subliminal consciousness," etc. Pt. 3 discusses, almost for the first time in English, the important matter of "crowd psychology" under the heads of society and epidemics, stampedes, financial crazes, etc. Index. Author is associate in psychology at the Pathological Institute of the New York State Hospitals.

Stannard, Mrs. Henrietta Eliza Vaughan, ["John Strange Winter," pseud.] The strange story of my life (The colonel's daughter): a novel. N. Y. and Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., [1898.] c. '96, '97. 3-265 p. D. cl., $1.50. [423]

The heroine is the daughter of an English officer stationed in India; here she was born and here marries an English officer. A child is born to them, and for climatic reasons mother and child are ordered to England. The husband had obtained leave to accompany them, but is recalled by bad news. After a short stay in London the mother and child travel to an Italian town, where the baby dies of cholera. An Austrian princess is interested in the bereaved mother, and, when news comes of her husband's death on the battle-field, induces her to accompany her to Styria. After years of mourning the young widow marries again, only to find in a short time that the report of her soldier-husband's death was not true.

Stuckenberg, J. H. Wilbur. Introduction to the study of sociology. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1898. c. '97. 12+336 p. O. cl., $1.50. [424]

The title gives the exact aim of the volume. An elaborate system of sociology is not attempted; but the purpose is to lay the basis for sociological study, to designate the problems involved, and to aid the beginner in the solution of these problems. Special attention has been devoted to the interpretation of society, particularly to the idea found under the head of "Sociation," to the division of "Sociology," and to the removal of the confusion caused by burdening the subject with materials which are not sociological, but belong to metaphysics, to speculative philosophy, or to natural science.

Titchener, E. Bradford. A primer of psychology. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 16+314 p. O. cl., $1. [425]

Intended as a first book in psychology. The aim has been to satisfy the two main requirements of a scientific primer: to outline, with as little of technical detail as is compatible with accuracy of statement, the methods and results of modern psychology, and to stimulate the reader, by means of questions and exercises upon the subject matter of these chapters and of references to more advanced treatises, to further study in the same field. References follow each chapter.

Tragical reign of Selimus, sometime Emperor of the Turks: a play reclaimed for Rob. Green; ed. with preface, notes, and glossary, by Alex. B. Grosart, D.D. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 32°, (Temple dramatists.) cl., 45 c.; mor., 65 c. [426]

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 12, 1898.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

"LITERARY TEAPOTS."

It has long been recognized that in these days of rush and breathless hurry it is impossible for the ordinary mortal to keep himself acquainted with even the cream of the ever-increasing yearly output of books and other printed matter. Nevertheless there is a desire on the part of many to keep up to date in all things, which a practical spirit has planned in a measure to satisfy.

Many years ago the genial "autocrat of the breakfast-table" longed for "a person whose sole business should be to read day and night," and present to him the result of the reading. In his own inimitable wording Dr. Holmes declared, "If I were a prince I would hire a private literary teapot, in which I would steep all the leaves of new books that promised well. The infusion would do for me without the vegetable fibre."

Acting upon this hint societies to provide such a "literary teapot" have actually been formed in busy New York. These societies are known as "Listener's Clubs." They are maintained by the payment of small dues which go to a reader (generally a woman), with the understanding that her time is given up entirely to the work of condensing books. When the club meets this "reader" has ready a synopsis of certain new books (selected either by herself or at the request of the members of the club,) with ready-made opinions upon them, a few choice anecdotes culled for quotation, etc.

The real object of these "Listener Clubs" seems to be to provide their constituencies with fresh material for conversation to avoid gossip and platitudes, and above all, to make it possible, with little expenditure of the individual member's own time, to appear "literary" in discussing current literature, rather than to provide education on given subjects.

Whether the "autocrat's" dream would have been realized by becoming a member of one of these "Listener's Clubs" is rather doubtful, and whether the "literary tea" that is being brewed from a single copy of a book can be full of sustenance for many listeners, we also cannot judge. It looks at first sight as if it were another mode of reading borrowed books, that already is a habit which curtails sales and acts detrimentally to the morals of the public and upon the profits of bookseller and publisher.

However, extremes meet, and, perhaps, what at first would seem calculated to decrease the sale of books may act in a contrary manner. If the hired reader does his work well he may offer suggestions that may awaken a desire in certain of his constituents to read for themselves, and he may thus be the means of bringing into direct contact with good literature people who would perhaps not otherwise have means of becoming acquainted with it. A really good "brewer" of "literary tea" might, therefore, prove a valuable coadjutor for a bookseller. As only good books are to be "steeped" for consideration, this fact in itself holds promise of improved taste and more reading.

PIRACY IN HOLLAND.

THE Börsenblatt in a recent issue prints the following note: "We find the following noteworthy communication in the Deutsche Wochenzeitung in den Niederlanden, No. 48: 'It is notorious that there are many publishers in Holland who make a business of pirating compositions or literary productions of foreign authors and trafficking in them, since they are not bound by the Berne Convention. Hitherto the injured parties conceived that the law of the Netherlands permitted such industry. German parties interested in the matter satisfied themselves with doubling their fists in their pockets; their French colleagues, on the contrary, act more energetically. They seem to have found a road leading to justice at the hand of an advocate versed in Dutch law-giving, and they follow this road, and so several Dutch firms have to await their condemnation or acquittal.'"

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY.

APROPOS of the formal opening this month of its handsome new quarters in the Presbyterian Building at 158 Fifth Avenue, corner of Twentieth Street, New York, by the Fleming H. Revell Company, which marks also, approximately, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the business career of its founder, it may not be out of place to touch briefly on the progress of this firm from its modest beginning in 1872 until the present day.

The founder of the firm, Fleming H. Revell, was born December 12, 1849, in a house on Washington Street, in Chicago, which was then little more than a frontier settlement. Mr. Revell is the descendant of a French family that had been settled for some time in England, and he is the youngest of his family and the only one that was born in this country. In September, 1872, he married Miss Josephine Barbour, of Romeo, Mich. He has two children, a daughter and a son—the fourth Fleming. He is related to Dwight L. Moody, who married Mr. Revell's sister, Miss Emma Revell.

Mr. Revell's first business venture was the publication of Everybody's Paper, which gained at once a very large circulation—145,000 copies in two years. In 1871 he went on his first business trip to Great Britain, and during his absence his business was almost completely destroyed by the disastrous fire of that year. Mr. Revell returned immediately, and the publication of the paper was suspended for but one issue. In 1872 he sold the periodical and began publishing, bookselling, and importing. His first venture of any importance was the importation of various religious works from Great Britain, among them the teacher's Bibles in circuit bindings, which were quite a new departure at that time on this side of the water. His first publishing ventures were a few booklets and tracts. From that small beginning has been developed the present business, which is represented by a catalogue containing over 1000 titles, including important works in a large variety of departments.

In 1886 Mr. Revell established an Eastern branch in New York, in small quarters in the American Tract Society building on Nassau Street. The growth of this Eastern house can perhaps be best judged by its steady requirements of larger quarters. In their original office they had but 850 square feet of floor space. At 12 Bible House, to which they removed in 1888, they had 1800 square feet, at 30 Union Square (1890-1893), they had 3500 square feet, and at 112 Fifth Avenue, to which they removed in 1893, they had 6500 square feet. In five years their business grew to such an extent that these quarters became too small, and so they have taken the store and basement in the north wing of the Presbyterian Building, where they have 8500 square feet. For the past ten years the New York house has been under the able management of S. Edgar Briggs, who came from Toronto early in 1888 to take charge of it.

The new store is one of the most attractive uptown, and is quietly and tastefully fitted up. The walls are tinted in delicate shades of green, and the shelving and furniture are of antique oak. A series of show-cases for Bibles, Prayer-Books, and fine bindings has been specially constructed and combined in a unique way. There are four of these cases which form a complete hollow square. Each case is about 3 feet high, half of which space on top forms the show-case, and the lower half on the inner side is shelved to hold the surplus stock. One section is mounted on rollers, and is arranged to open so as to afford admission to the salesman behind the cases. There are two entrances to the store—one from the street on Fifth Avenue, and one from the vestibule of the Presbyterian Building, which gives them also two show-windows and ample light. The centre of the store receives a flood of light from a large skylight. In the front of the store a space has been set apart as a reading or waiting room, where patrons may at their leisure read, or write letters. In the rear a large private room has been fitted up, where ministers or other Christian workers may meet for conference. In the high, well-lighted basement, 150 feet deep, is the wholesale stock of the publications of the firm. Every provision in the way of shelving for cuts, books, etc., has been made. In a recess under the stairway they have put up the entire shelving used by them when they first started. It forms about a hundredth part of the shelving now needed for their business.

The Revell Company is unique in one respect in that its publications are manufactured, some in Chicago and quite as many in New York. Ten years ago not a single book was issued from New York; now its Eastern manufacturing department has to care for over four hundred titles.

In 1891 Mr. Revell formed the company which bears his name, the better to conserve his growing interests. The company is a close corporation, only those directly interested in the working of the business being associated with Mr. Revell. The present directors are: Fleming H. Revell, President; Alexander McConnell, Secretary; S. Edgar Briggs, Managing Director New York house; and George H. Doran.

In 1893 the company acquired, by purchase, the business of the Toronto Willard Tract Depository, thereby securing a branch house in the neighboring Dominion and assuring closer European connections.

A comprehensive description of the company's business is given in the statement that it deals distinctly in religious publications, and that these are uniformly of an "Evangelical" type. Its history, more than that of any other house, seems to prove that, although it may be believed by some that "Evangelical" religion is losing its hold upon the world, in point of fact it apparently never had so strong and so rapidly increasing a hold upon mankind as at present. For example, the house has issued large and repeated editions of Mr. Moody's books, Dr. Gordon's, Mr. Spurgeon's, Mr. Murray's, and Mr. Meyer's, as well as such publications as "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life," "Probable Sons," etc. Such books as these have sold in large numbers—ranging from 25,000 to 150,000 copies each. Among the other notable contributors to the Revell catalogue are: Isabella L. Bird Bishop, Sir J. William Dawson, Prof. Henry Drummond, Prof. A. H. Sayce, Prof. Flinders Petrie, Prof. J. Rendel Harris, Prof. R. F. Weidner, Rev. Theo. L. Cuyler, Rev. Alfred Edersheim, and Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst.

The field of "Missions" also has special attention, placing the company at the head of the list in any country for the number, variety, and importance of its publications in this particular direction.

The Revell Company is sole agent in America for the well-known publications of The Religious Tract Society of London.

The periodical publications of the firm include The Record of Christian Work, which has lately been greatly enlarged and improved, and placed under the editorial charge of W. R. Moody; The Sunday-School Lesson Illustrator, edited by Mrs. A. C. Morrow; and Men and The Evangel, the official organs respectively of the central organization of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations.

When asked some time ago as to what special theories had been adopted in securing so large and steadily increasing a business, Mr. Revell responded that he had had no distinct theories other than that the imprint of the house should be in a large measure an endorsement of the character of the work bearing it. "We have had no ambition to become 'general' publishers, but have aimed to make our imprint known, and as known, to secure and retain the confidence of the reader."

MARK TWAIN AND THE OTHER MAN.

DURING Mark Twain's stay in Vienna this winter the newspapers have devoted a great deal of attention to him. One of his latest sayings quoted refers to a cable despatch he received from America asking if the rumor of his death was true.

"News of my death grossly exaggerated," was the answer Mark Twain sent back to his own country.

So many rumors concerning his affairs have been spread about that he has written the following to a friend in Hartford, which we reprint from the New York Sun:

"Rumors about my unimportant self are easily circulated. It was reported that I was seriously sick—that was some other man; then it was that I was about to die—again another man; then it was that I was dead—another man again. Then the rumor was that I had inherited a legacy—it was another man; then came the report that I had paid all my debts—once more another man. Now the rumor is that I am writing another book. I know nothing of it. It would, indeed, surprise me if I should publish another book for the next three years. The only thing that is left for them to say is that I have emigrated permanently and become an Austrian. That last is one thing I will never, never do. I do not want to increase the confusion of languages any more."

Mark Twain's new book is shortly to be translated into German.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DR. A. CONAN DOYLE has written a new story entitled "The Confession."

GRANT ALLEN's new story, "The Incidental Bishop," will be published this spring.

BRET HARTE's new autobiographical sketch, entitled "How I Went to the Mines," is to be published in The Youth's Companion.

"ELISSA" is the title of Rider Haggard's forthcoming novel. The scene is laid in the centre of Africa about 3000 B.C.

MRS. JULIA C. R. DORR, poet and novelist, who is ill with pneumonia at her home in Rutland, Vt., is not expected to live. She is nearly seventy years of age.

MARK TWAIN has prepared for the March number of Harper's an article dealing with "Stirring Times in Austria, as Seen from the Parliament at Vienna."

MAARTEN MAARTENS has recently finished a new story which will shortly make its appearance in serial form in Temple Bar Magazine. The title is "Her Memory."

LEO TOLSTOY has just completed a new work, entitled "On Art." It is to appear in an early number of the Russian periodical, Questions of Philosophy and Psychology.

RICHARD LE GALLIENNE arrived in New York on the 3d inst. He will remain until the fall, and devote the next three months to reading from his works and to lecturing. The summer months he expects to spend with a friend on the New England coast.

THE controversy over the authorship of the Letters of Junius is reopened by W. Fraser Rae, who has begun in the Athenaeum an argument against the claims in behalf of Sir Philip Francis to the honor which has often been accorded him. "The Franciscan Myth" is the running head of his argument, and it demands the close reading of all who care to follow the ins and outs of the history of this famous mystery.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

L'Enfant Terrible, the cleverly-announced, is not to make its appearance after all.

THE injunction against the use of the word "Commercial" as a name, which was obtained by the New York Advertiser, and served on the publishers of the new financial daily, has been made permanent, and in the future the new paper will be known as the Commercial America. It ran for one week without a name, being known as the New York ———.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, TENN.—James T. Greene has been arrested on the charge of sending improper books and pictures through the mails, and some eight thousand books and pictures have been seized.

AURORA, ILL.—F. P. Schickler has bought Mr. Miller's interest in their book business. Mr. Miller is retiring to devote himself to music.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Maynard, Merrill & Co., New York publishers, have filed articles of incorporation to enable them to do business in Texas.

BALTIMORE, MD.—At a meeting of the creditors of the H. W. Diek Company, booksellers and stationers, it was stated that the failure was due to an increased expense incurred in fitting up the new store and the loss of business while continuing the old store. A committee was appointed to investigate the affairs of the firm, and to consult with Mr. Dick in regard to arranging for an early settlement of the claims against him. The statement of Paul A. Seegar, trustee, submitted at the meeting, showed assets, $14,470; liabilities, $18,749.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—The Independent Publishing Company has been incorporated. Capital $6000.

DES MOINES, IA.—Lathrop, Rhoades, McCain Co., booksellers and stationers, have given mortgages aggregating $2267.

GARDINER, ME.—Chase & Tower, booksellers, have assigned for the benefit of their creditors. Liabilities, $6000; assets, $800.

HAMMOND, IND.—The Hammond Land and Improvement Co. have signed contracts with the W. B. Conkey Company of Chicago to remove their printing and publishing plant to this place. The Land and Improvement Co. have given a free building site and a bonus of $75,000 to be used in building. Contracts will be awarded at once, and it is expected to have the new establishment in operation by May 1, the Conkey Company guaranteeing to give steady employment to 600 persons from the time the first wheel is turned in the plant. While the Conkey Company will remain distinctively a Chicago concern, most of its work during the coming year will be done at Hammond. The general offices will remain in Chicago.

HUDSON, WIS.—F. D. Harding, bookseller, has been succeeded by E. A. Harding.

LARAMIE, WYO.—The Laramie Book Company has been organized, with A. Ericksen and James Fenwick as the managers and principal stockholders.

LEADVILLE, COLO.—John Nowland & Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by the Nowland Book and Stationery Company.

LINCOLN, NEB.—Kizer & Son have bought W. E. Burlingame's stock of books and stationery. J. Lester Kizer is now in charge.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—Jacoby Brothers have added a book and stationery department to their business.

MANISTEE, MICH.—The pioneer booksellers, Somerville & Wood, have filed chattel mortgages aggregating nearly $8000, of which $2500 is to secure local creditors. The firm may not suspend business.

MENA, ARK.—J. J. Gammill has bought the stock and good-will of L. C. Treat, and will conduct a general high-class book, stationery, and periodical store. Mr. Gammill gained his experience in a book-store in Missouri.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—R. G. Craig, bookseller, has been succeeded by Andrew M. Ernst.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—E. R. Wood & Co., Ltd., booksellers, have made an assignment. A liquidator has been appointed.

NEW YORK CITY.—The name of Colton, long familiar to students of geography and users of maps, is now entering upon a new chapter of its honorable history. The old firm of G. W. & C. B. Colton & Co., which was established in 1830, has been reorganized and incorporated, and by decree of the Supreme Court will hereafter be known as Colton, Ohman & Co. It will continue the business of map-drawing, engraving and publishing, with all the knowledge of nearly seventy years' experience and an equipment of the most modern and improved appliances.

NEW YORK CITY.—Dick & Fitzgerald, publishers, have been succeeded by Harris B. Dick.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Methodist Book Concern is taking steps to close out its miscellaneous retail business. It will give up its store and remove the retail department of its own publications to another part of their building.

NEVADAVILLE, COLO.—Newlun & Roberts have recently opened a news- and book-store in this town.

OWEGO, N. Y.—Edward E. Strait will move his book-store to larger quarters on Front Street on March 1.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Penn Publishing Company has recently removed to new and greatly enlarged quarters at 923 Arch Street, just one square west of their former location. The building, of which they occupy the entire second floor, is a comparatively recent structure and modern in every respect. It extends 150 feet to a back street, from which all shipping is done. There is excellent light and every facility afforded for the publishing business. The manager's office is at the front and extends the full width of the building. Adjoining this is the retail department, which connects with the mailing department. Next to the mailing department is the general wholesale and shipping department. The removal was hastened somewhat by the purchase of the business of P. Garrett & Co. The Penn Publishing Company has been known for years as the publishers of recitation and dialogue books. Late y, however, their reputation has extended to other lines, namely, stories for boys and girls, popular handbooks, and text-books.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Unitarian Book-room Association has opened a new book-room at 1708 Chestnut Street for the sale of periodicals and tracts.

PINE BLUFF, ARK.—Ed. F. Rosenberg has opened a book-store.

PITTSBURG, PA.—Jacob A. Keating's Book-Store is in the hands of the sheriff on an execution for $1587.20.

PORT HENRY, N. Y.—W. E. Wallace has moved his book business to the store formerly occupied by C. P. Parker.

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.—Ray Brown and Elmer Brown have secured the City Book-Store from Hubert Northrup, and took possession on January 13.

WATERLOO, IA.—J. L. Leonard & Son, booksellers, have been succeeded by F. A. Lee.

WHEELING, W. VA.—Carle Bros., booksellers, have sold out.

WILMINGTON, DEL.—The book business for many years conducted by C. F. Thomas & Co. has been sold to J. S. Conner & Co., of Philadelphia.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE February "Smoker" of the Booksellers' League, held at the Gramercy Lyceum on the evening of the 9th inst., was well attended. Forty-eight sat down to play euchre and had an enjoyable time until the final bell rang—too soon, some time after ten o'clock. The race for first prize, an alligator bag, had narrowed down to R. F. Fenno and Mr. Launder; on the play-off Mr. Launder won. The second prize, a fountain pen, went to Mr. Fenno, and the booby prize, a silver-backed brush and comb, was carried off by Desmond Fitzgerald.

During a half-hour's intermission, Mr. Thorn read an original unpublished story, that was well received by the League.

The banquet committee reported that arrangements had been made to give the third annual dinner of the League at St. Denis Hotel, New York, on the evening of April 5. Representatives of every branch of the trade are expected to speak. The price of the tickets has been fixed at $2, which does not include wine. Applications for tickets may be made to W. H. Parker with E. P. Dutton & Co., F. D. Lacey at G. P. Putnam's Sons, and to John A. Holden with Thomas Whittaker in the Bible House, New York.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTES.

GEORGE WATSON COLE has begun in the Bulletin of Bibliography, published by the Boston Book Company, a bibliography entitled "Bermuda in Periodical Literature." Miss Ethelyn D. M. Tucker in the same issue continues her useful "List of Books First Published in Periodicals."

THE State Library of Massachusetts has published, in a special bulletin dated January, a "Bibliography of Works on Taxation in the State Library of Massachusetts," prepared by Ellen M. Sawyer, principal assistant. The list does not include works on the tariff and internal revenue. The more important works are marked with an asterisk. (25 p. 8°.)

CARLO CLAUSEN, of Turin, Italy, has published a catalogue, which it is expected will be of value to specialists and booksellers. It covers all that has been published on electricity and magnetism from 1885 until 1897, not only in Italy but in the world. The entries are alphabetized by author with place, date, and size of publication, and the titles are also indexed by subject with reference to author. The catalogue also includes a list of the principal periodicals on electricity and magnetism published in Germany, America, England, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Holland, Italy, and Spain.

THE printing of the catalogue of Sanskrit MSS. in the British Museum has been commenced. Vol. 1, which is in press, will contain descriptions, by Prof. C. Bendall, of all the ordinary (Brahmanical) Sanskrit and of the Buddhist works, the Jain literature only being reserved for future treatment. The catalogue of Hindustani MSS. is printed, and that of Hindi MSS. is in the press. The compiler of both these is Prof. J. F. Blumhardt. The work of printing the general catalogue of the British Museum Library, which was inaugurated by the late Sir Edward Bond, will be completed, it is hoped, at the opening of the twentieth century. The catalogue is the largest compilation of its kind in the world. Formerly, when it was written, it consisted of nearly 3000 folio volumes, which entirely filled the great circular shelves in the centre of the reading-room specially constructed for its accommodation. Indeed, had not the government been induced by Sir Edward Bond to make a grant of about £3000 a year for the printing of this mammoth catalogue, the authorities of the library would now have been at a loss to find room for the additional volumes, as the compilation grew with the increase of the library. But as the catalogue has been printed the number of its volumes has steadily decreased, and the room made thereby available on the circular shelves has been filled with other works of reference. It is hoped that when the printing is completed the catalogue will have been reduced to about 1000 volumes. Of course, space is being left in the printed catalogue for the entry of the accessions to the library which pour in day after day in an unending stream. The catalogue is like a scrap-book of many volumes, into which are pasted printed slips containing the author's name, title of book, date and place of publication, etc., arranged alphabetically, according to the names of authors, room being left on each page for new writers, or for additional works by authors already entered. There are three copies of the catalogue—the reader's copy, a reserve copy, and a copy for the use of the officials. When any addition has to be made in any of the volumes of the reader's copy, the corresponding volumes of the reserve copy are put in their places on the circular shelves.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—H. W. Bryant, Portland, Me., Americana, autographs, book-plates, etc. (No. 8, 154 titles.)—Pickering & Chatto, 66 Haymarket, London, S. W., Illustrated catalogue of old and rare books. (Pt. 3. 1144-2059 titles.)—George H. Richmond & Son, 19 Union Sq., N. Y., Rare standard and miscellaneous. (No. 1, 276 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE PETER PAUL BOOK CO., Buffalo, announce the publication, at an early date, of "Daydreams of a Doctor," by D. C. Barlow, of Robinson, Ill.

AT the sale, on the 7th inst., at Edinburgh, of Burns's works, a copy of the first Kilmarnock edition, in the original paper covers, uncut, brought £572 ($2860).

MISS FLORENCE E. BATE, late buyer for Hunter, Glenn & Hunter's Book Department, Detroit, Mich., has accepted a similar position with John V. Sheehan & Co., booksellers, the change having been made on the 1st inst.

THE forthcoming Poe-Patterson correspondence, with introduction by Eugene Field and facsimile of one of Poe's letters, the New York Evening Post is informed, is not new material, having been published in the Chicago weekly America of April 11, 1889.

THE Joint Commission on Methodist Federation, which recently met in Baltimore, recommends the use of a common catechism, hymn-book, and order of public worship in the two Churches, the official oversight of the Epworth League, and a joint publication house for China and Japan.

THE Chester, Pa., newsdealers held a meeting at Trainer Brothers' store and effected an organization. A. C. Rhoades was elected president, and George Volkhardt secretary. A committee was appointed to interview the Sunday newspapers with a view to securing the old rates.

STAN. V. HENKELS, at the auction rooms of Davis & Harvey, 1212 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, will sell on the 21st and 22d inst. a rare collection of autograph letters and historical papers, for a fuller description of which we refer our readers to the advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

APROPOS of the celebration of the anniversary of the fiftieth year of the woman suffrage movement is published the reminiscences of Elizabeth Cady Stanton by the European Publishing Co. of New York. On April 1 will be published "The Life and Work of Susan B. Anthony," by Ida Harper, a Western journalist.

IN noting in our last week's issue the change of price of the Fluegel-Schmid-Tanger's "School and Hand Lexicon of the German and English Languages," published by Lemcke & Buechner, we inadvertently gave the price of the complete work as $5 instead of $5.20 net. We were also wrong in stating that the work is in one volume. It is in two volumes, each of which may be had separately at $3 net.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & Co. will publish shortly H. M. Stanley's account of his recent journey to Buluwayo and Johannesburg, entitled "Through South Africa, by H. M. Stanley, M.P., being an account of his visit to Rhodesia and the Transvaal." The volume comprises the letters contributed by Mr. Stanley to South Africa with revision and introductory matter. It will also contain an excellent map and several illustrations.

THE series of Saturday morning conferences by the Comparative Literature Society was begun on the 5th inst. at 10 o'clock in the Carnegie Lyceum. The subject of the conferences is "The Dawn of Literature." The first lecture was delivered by Dr. Thomas Wilson, Curator of Prehistoric Anthropology at the U. S. Museum in Washington. His subject was "Man and His Wanderings," and he demonstrated how the prehistoric migrations of the human family have been traced by the discovery of the implements of his toil. To-day (the 12th inst.) Prof. C. H. Toy, of Harvard, is to lecture on "The Dawn of Literature in Babylon and Egypt." It was announced that the society had acquired 230 members.

THE UNIVERSITY SOCIETY, 78 Fifth Avenue, New York, are issuing a library of The World's Greatest Books, selected by Thomas B. Reed, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Edward Everett Hale, William R. Harper, President of University of Chicago; Ainsworth R. Spofford, and Rossiter Johnson. The library is to consist of "masterpieces," every one complete, selected from fiction, history, Oriental literature, mental and moral science, poetry and plays, etc. The publishers are printing these books from new plates on fine paper. For each of the great books in the series an introductory article has been written by some eminent scholar or literary critic. Among the latter are Andrew Lang, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Moncure D. Conway, John P. Mahaffy, W. E. H. Lecky, Henry M. Alden, etc. The library will include about 150 books. Many of these standards are already out of copyright, but many have been arranged for by their original publishers. The books are for the subscription trade only.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will begin early in the present year the publication of a new series of scientific books, edited by Professor J. McKeen Cattell, Columbia University, with the co-operation of Frank Evers Beddard, F.R.S., in Great Britain. Each volume of the series will treat some department of science with reference to the most recent advances, and will be contributed by an author of acknowledged authority. Every effort will be made to maintain the standard set by the first volumes, until the series shall represent the more important aspects of contemporary science. The advance of science has been so rapid, and its place in modern life has become so dominant, that it is needful to revise continually the statement of its results, and to put these in a form that is intelligible and attractive. The man of science can himself be a specialist in one department only, yet it is necessary for him to keep abreast of scientific progress in many directions. The results of modern science are of use in nearly every profession and calling, and are an essential part of modern education and culture. A series of scientific books, such as has been planned, should be assured of a wide circulation, and should contribute greatly to the advance and diffusion of scientific knowledge. The first volumes will be "The Stars," by Prof. Simon Newcomb; "The Earth as a Planet," by Prof. C. A. Young, of Princeton; and "The Measurement of the Earth," by T. C. Mendenhall, President of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

PICK-UPS.

MIXED TITLES.—"Have you Cyrus & Esther?" was a question asked of a librarian in a college town by one who was in search of "Saracinesca."

Another librarian was asked, in a hesitating way, for a volume of Shakespeare. "But which play do you desire?" "Well, I think the title is 'Just What You Want'!!" She received just what she wanted in "As You Like It!"

A lady asked for "The Unseen Chorus," and the bright clerk guessed at once that she meant "The Invisible Choir."

WHERE WAS DAVID COPPERFIELD?—"On Saturday last a lady was looking over the display of books in one of the large department stores, and, not finding what she wanted, asked a youth, who was evidently a cash-boy, 'Can you find 'David Copperfield'?' Without hesitation the boy replied, 'I'll see. What department is he in?' It is to be feared that the handling of books in these emporiums has made it impossible for another Milton to come from the ranks of booksellers' assistants."—N. Y. Times.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

FEBRUARY 14, 15, 3 P.M.—Standard, choice, and scarce books. (639 lots.)—Bangs.

FEBRUARY 16-18, 3 P.M.—A small collection of books, principally by or relating to Charles Lamb (a contribution to a Lamb Bibliography), early American editions of Robert Burns and Oliver Goldsmith, First Editions, Americana, ex-Libris, Autographs, Portraits, Maps, etc. Sold by order of an Amateur Bibliographer, who abandons the chase. (954 l ts.)—Bangs.

It would seem, almost, as though the owner were selling his books in order to get a chance to point out the number of omissions in E. D. North's bibliography of the works of Charles Lamb. He notes 47 of these.

FEBRUARY 21, 22, 2 P.M. AND 8 P.M.—Rare collection of autograph letters and historical papers.—Stan. V. Henkels, at the auction rooms of Davis & Harvey, 1212 Chestnut St., Phila.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

 Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

READY NEXT WEEK.

The Annual American Catalogue, 1897

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE for 1897 will be issued early in February.

It will contain :

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1897.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1897.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same, in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1897.

This volume forms the THIRD ANNUAL SUPPLEMENT to the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1890-95.

One volume, half leather, $3.50; in sheets, $3.00; if ordered and paid for, before publication, the price will be, half leather, $3.00; in sheets, $2.50.

The edition as usual is a limited one. The volumes for 1890 to 1893 are all out of print, and orders for those of 1894, 1895, and 1896, to insure supply, should be promptly filed. THE ANNUAL ENGLISH CATALOGUE, for which we have the American market, now includes full title entries, after the manner of the American volume, instead of the previous abbreviated entries. It will be furnished at $1.50 paper, or bound with the American in one volume, half leather, at $5.00, net.

READY AT ONCE.

The Annual Literary Index, 1897

Including Periodicals, American and English, Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Special Bibliographies and Necrology of Authors. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX for 1897 is now printing and will be ready earlier than usual in the year. This not only covers the full range of periodicals included in Poole's Index, as no other publication does, but includes the "essay index," continuing the "A. L. A. Index to General Literature," an index to events of 1897, which is practically an index to the daily papers, a list of bibliographies of the year, and a necrology of authors, etc. The volume is the first annual supplement to Poole's Index for 1892-1896, and the fourth to the "A. L. A. Index to General Literature." It is the complement of THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books published in 1897, and with it makes a complete record of the literary product of the year. It is thus the most comprehensive tool in the way of a guide to recent literature furnished for library and trade purposes. The edition is limited.

One volume, cloth, uniform with Poole's Index and the A. L. A. Index, $3.50, net.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

"Good indexing could no further go."—The Nation.

WILL PUBLISH SHORTLY:

The Confession of Stephen Whapshare.

By EMMA BROOKE, author of "A Superfluous Woman," etc. No. 28 in the "Hudson Library." 16mo, paper, 50 cts.; cloth, $1.00.

"If we begin to read 'The Confession of Stephen Whapshare' the chances are that we shall not lay down the book before the closing page. Miss Brooke has composed a clever, strong, and original tale. She will 'go far,' doubtless, for among other gifts she possesses a grave and cultured style."—London Telegraph.

Lost Man's Lane.

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN, author of "That Affair Next Door," "The Leavenworth Case," etc. No. 30 in the "Hudson Library." 16mo, paper, 50 cts.; cloth, $1.00.

The Chase of an Heiress.

By CHRISTIAN REID, author of "Valerie Aymer," etc. No. 29 in the "Hudson Library." 16mo, paper, 50 cts.; cloth, $1.00.

In the Midst of Life.

Tales of Soldiers and Civilians. By AMBROSE BIERCE. 12mo, gilt top.

"Mr. Bierce portrays the most appalling scenes with a deliberation, a force, and a precision that are rarely seen. The realization of Walt Whitman's 'Specimen Days' is pale compared with that of 'In the Midst of Life.' It is a thing that one reads breathlessly and shudderingly. . . . A remarkable literary feat."—Scottish Leader.

Boston Neighbours.

In Town and Out. By AGNES BLAKE POOR. 12mo, gilt top.

A series of clever stories and character studies by a shrewd observer of men, women, and things. A companion volume to Miss Fuller's "Pratt Portraits."

The Building of the British Empire.

1558-1895. The Story of England's Growth from Elizabeth to Victoria. By ALFRED THOMAS STORY, author of "The Life of John Linnell," etc. In 2 vols. Nos. 50 and 51 in the "Story of the Nations Series." With over 100 portraits and illustrations from contemporary prints. Large 12mo, cloth, each $1.50; half leather, gilt top, each $1.75.

The Story of Modern France.

1789-1895. By ANDRÉ LEBON, Member of the Chamber of Deputies. No. 49 in the "Story of the Nations Series." Fully illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth, $1.50; half leather, gilt top, $1.75.
